In the 100 years since WW1, how have the people of Wales contributed to the search for peace?

From 2014-18, volunteers, schools and community groups across Wales' have been uncovering Wales' 'Peace Heritage' - stories of ordinary people who have done extraordinary things to build a better world. Come and explore these hidden histories from Swansea, Glamorgan and Wales-wide, issues of peace today - and consider 'what in the world' you care about for future generations.

By the Welsh Centre for International Affairs, as part of 'Now the Hero' – a powerful memorial of conflict, protest, poetry and performance by Swansea-based and internationally-renowned artist Marc Rees. Sept 25-29

7 Ways
to Build a Better World

Pam edrych ar y gorffennol, os ydyn ni eisiau creu dyfodol gwell? Pam edrych ar straeon treftadaeth, os ydyn ni eisiau ysbrydoli pobl i weithredu? Pam edrych tuag at gymunedau lleol, os ydyn ni eisiau creu newid byd-eang? Beth mae Cymru wedi'i gyflawni yn y byd, a beth allai wneud eto?

Ystyriwch straeon heddychwyr sydd, mewn gwahanol ffyrdd yn ystod y can mlynedd diwethaf, wedi 'ysbrydoli rhyngwladoldeb' drwy eu gweithredoedd. Beth yn y byd sydd o bwys i chi?

Why look to the past, if we want to build a better future? Why look to heritage stories, if we want to inspire action? Why look to local communities, if we want to create global change? What has, and what can, Wales achieve in the world?

Explore stories of peacebuilders who, in different ways over the last 100 years, have 'inspired internationalism' through their actions. What in the world do you care about?
